Program Password

Program Description: Computer will compare the user entered password from the keyboard with corrected password that has already been given. Prompt some messages accordingly.

Use of the Program: The user don't have to know anything in advance, just type in anything user wants. After he entered, the program will tell him if he typed the correct password. If not, it will prompt him to try again. If succeed, the program will end.

The correct password is: 55059file

Bug: Currently none.
